Draft permission request

Use this if you still need written authorization from the rights holder. Replace the bracketed fields and send it through the rights holder’s official legal, licensing, or business-contact channel.

Subject: Request for permission to port and redistribute a legacy mobile game build

Hello,

I am requesting written permission to create and publicly distribute a PC-compatible port of [exact game title and version, e.g. Angry Birds 1.0 for iOS].

Requested scope

- Prepare a PC port derived from the iOS build identified as [IPA filename / bundle identifier / version].
- Use the existing PC build [AngryBirds.zip / repository URL] as a technical base.
- Reproduce and redistribute the game binaries, artwork, audio, level data, and necessary trademarks solely as part of this port.
- Publish the resulting source and compiled build on GitHub at [repository URL] and attach the compiled build to GitHub Releases.
- Allow users to download and run the release worldwide for [duration, e.g. perpetual / 5 years].

Limitations I will observe

- I will include the copyright and trademark notices you specify.
- I will not sell the release or place advertising in it unless separately authorized.
- I will not use the materials for other games, NFTs, AI training datasets, or unrelated derivative works.
- I will remove or restrict the release if you revoke permission under the terms we agree.

Please let me know what license terms, fees, attribution text, or additional restrictions apply. I am happy to sign a formal agreement.

Thank you,
[Your name / repository owner]
[Contact information]
[Date]

This template is provided for convenience and is not legal advice.